Iaac Advanced
Architecture
Barcelona

FINAL THESIS SUBMISSION

The thesis should be presented in A4 vertical format

REQUIREMENTS CONTENT

1. Cover:

A4 Vertical, should include Title of thesis, Authors, Supervisors and thesis cluster, Academic Cycle "2023 - 2025" and NEW IAAC logo

2. Title page (1 page):

A. Title and subtitle of the thesis. It is recommended that you use as few as possible and that these be as "searchable" as possible. Avoid the use of abbreviations, acronyms, codes, symbols and formulas that are not commonly used;

B. Name of the author;

C. Name of the supervisor/s;

D. Name of the institution;

E. Name of Master program;

F. Location and date (month and year).

3. Abstract:

A. This is a very brief version of your thesis, stating the problem, research question, hypothesis, experiments, and results. It enables the reader to rapidly identify the basic content of the thesis;

B. It should not contain more than 500 words (1 Page);

C. It must include keywords (no more than 5) before or after the abstract.

4. Preface or prologue (3 pages max) - optional:

A. An introductory text that functions as a users manual or readers guide;

B. Acknowledgments.

5. Table of contents (3 Pages max.);

Show titles of the main sections, appendices, and page numbers where they can be found.

6. Glossary (if necessary) - can also come at the end of the text;

7. Body or main text:

The length of the thesis will be between 10,000 words (min.) and 30,000 words (max.). The full thesis, including images, should roughly be between 100 (min) to 200 pages (max). Your text must cover the following elements:

A. Introduction: Contextualize your research in relation to the framework you are setting your research in; enunciate research problem, research question, hypothesis/thesis statement, the interest of the research (scientific interest); objectives and aim of the research; methodology of development adopted in the research; this must all relate to previous research/projects on the subject (state of the art);

B. Development and Research Materials: Describe the experiments/ work you developed around your hypothesis/thesis statement;

C. Results: Present results of your experiments/analysis, each should lead to an individual conclusion that builds towards your thesis argument;

D. Discussions / Conclusions: Discuss the final results obtained in relation to the totality of your thesis. Comment on unexpected findings. Open possibilities for future research based on these;

8. Bibliography:

> Please follow citation and referencing standards of Harvard style (20 references min). See: citethisforme.com/harvard-referencing

9. Back Cover:

> A4 Vertical, should include NEW IAAC logo.

10. Appendix (optional):

You may include any supplementary material that supports your thesis, but is not discussed in the main body of the thesis, and therefore does not appear within the thesis chapters.

This can include technical drawings, publications, extended data sets, images, charts, interview transcripts, or any other relevant content.

HOW TO SUBMIT

The deadline for the Thesis Submission is the 18th of September 2025. You will be asked to submit in digital and physical format. The physical copy should be delivered to IAAC by the Thesis Submission deadline therefore if you will be sending your thesis, please make sure you track its arrival (see further instructions below).

Academic Integrity and Use of AI Tools

All thesis submissions must strictly adhere to the institution's policies on academic integrity. Plagiarism—defined as presenting someone else's work or ideas as one's own—will be taken seriously and may lead to disciplinary action, including expulsion. Any suspected case will be reviewed by the Academic Coordination and Direction.

The use of AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT, Bard, Midjourney, Stable Diffusion) must be explicitly acknowledged in the thesis if such tools have been employed. Prior to using AI tools, students must inform and seek approval from their supervising faculty. AI tools may only be used as support or reference tools, and not in a way that compromises the originality, ethical standards, or academic rigor of the work.

PHYSICAL SUBMISSION

One copy of the A4 printed thesis should be sent to IAAC by mail or submitted in person.

If sent via mail, it should be sent to the following address of IAAC:

To the attention of Pilar Xiques.

IAAC - Institute for advanced Architecture of Catalonia

C/ Pujades baixos, 102,

08005 Barcelona,

Spain.

DIGITAL SUBMISSION

Documents to be submitted:

A. .pdf printable file of the thesis (high resolution)

B. .pdf file with video resolution to be uploaded on websites (ex. issuu) C. The InDesign full package, including fonts, .IDML, pictures in high resolution

D. A Google Doc with the text of the thesis (divided into chapters). This submission is required by the local regulations in order to be inserted in a Plagiarism Checker